Patricia Smith

Performance Poet, Pushcart Prize Winner,
National Book Award Finalist, &
National Poetry Slam Champion

Patricia Smith is the author of five internationally acclaimed poetry volumes, Blood Dazzler, Teahouse of the Almighty, Close to Death, Life According to Motown, and Big Towns, Big Talk. She is also the author of Africans in America, a companion volume to the groundbreaking PBS documentary.

“Reading poems like these, overflowing with life but contained by art, makes us all feel a little bit helpless. These poems are blessings that will move like white light through your veins.” -American Book Review
